4. Complete the grid by connecting 3 elements together (like bingo- one column, one row, or 3 across diagonally)

Compose and include two haiku, one for each character, that describes what he or she learned about relationships and how they impact individuals.	Add an image that demonstrates a central idea that "a single day can change everything". Explain why you chose that image.	List three questions you had while reading that were left unanswered. Why do you think the author chose not to answer each of them?
Add three quotes that support the theme, "Our relationships drive our choices." Explain how each quote supports that theme.	Choose one of the two storylines. Create an 8- 10-point timeline for that story. Name each important event above the line. Write how that event changed the character below the line.	Describe and/or draw two gifts you would give, one for each central character, that would have helped him or her in the story (or beyond). Why did you choose each gift?
Describe how the impact of a lost relationship - Taz and his dad, Reshmina and her sister - impacted the choices each made. Support each impact with two quotes from the text.	Add three quotes that support the theme, "Revenge creates a cycle." Explain how each quote supports that theme.	Draw how you think the Tasmanian Devil stuffie would have looked. Describe what it represented to Taz and to Reshmina. Add a piece of evidence to support each idea.
